

Books of Interest by Dr. Clara Small

Compass Points: Profiles and Biographies of African Americans from the Delmarva Peninsula, Volume I

Paperback
Published: 2014
ISBN: 978162806-044-7
$30

"This book, featuring 56 African-Americans from the region, shares their notable contributions and includes founders of African-Americans churches, politicians, educators and civil rights activists."

--Star Democrat (September 2, 2015)

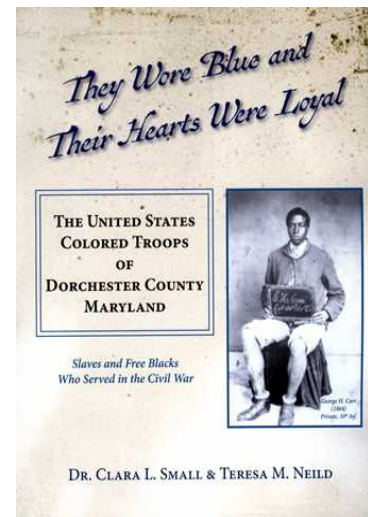

They Wore Blue and Their Hearts Were Loyal: The United States Colored Troops of Dorchester County, Maryland

Co-authored with Teresa M. Neild

Paperback
Published: 2017
ISBN: 978-1-62806-129-1
$30

"This book will be valuable to African American researchers in the region."

--Dorchester County Historical Society
(February 23, 2017)

Other works by Dr. Clara Small include:

- A Reality Check: Brief Biographies of African-Americans on Delmarva, released in 1998
- Men of Color to Arms! Manumitted Slaves and Free Blacks from the Lower Eastern Shore of Maryland Who Served in the Civil War, co-authored with David Briddell, released in 2011 (ISBN: 978-0-970382-6-5)
- Compass Points: Profiles and Biographies of African Americans from the Delmarva Peninsula, Volume II, released in October 2017!

For more information and/or to order books online, contact www.saltwatermedia.com.

29 Broad Street, Suite 104
Berlin, MD 21811
443-513-4422

For presentations, consultations, and historical research, please contact
Dr. Clara Small at (410) 430-7135 or clsmall@salisbury.edu.

Dr. Clara Small, Professor Emeritus of History
Salisbury University

Dr. Clara Small has written and talked about notable individuals from the Eastern Shore, such as the first African-American woman to serve in a state legislature who lived on the Delmarva Peninsula. Also from the Delmarva Peninsula are two Tuskegee Airmen, a Buffalo Soldier, and the second president of Liberia. Small hopes that her 2014 book, Compass Points: Profiles and Biographies of African Americans from the Delmarva Peninsula, Volume I, will get into the heads of her readers. "Most people who live here have no idea about [the book's subjects'] contributions to Delmarva," she said. "Most of them are national figures." The book features 56 African-Americans from the region.

Over the course of her nearly 40-year career as a professor at Salisbury University, Dr. Small became known as one of the leading scholars and historians on African American history on the Eastern Shore of Maryland. Years after her retirement from Salisbury University, Dr. Small is as busy as ever. She is working on a soon-to-be released follow-up third volume to her acclaimed book, Compass Points, gives presentations at a variety of events including Pi Gamma Mu induction ceremonies in her area, in addition to presenting throughout the Mid-Atlantic. Compass Points, Profiles and Biographies of African Americans from the Delmarva Peninsula, Volume II, is on sale now through Salt Water Media (www.saltwatermedia.com) and at scheduled book signings.

For presentations, book signings, consultations, and historical research, contact
Dr. Clara Small at (410) 430-7135 or clsmall@salisbury.edu .

Coming soon in 2019 and 2020 - Additional Works by Dr. Clara Small

Compass Points: Profiles and Biographies of African Americans from the Delmarva Peninsula, Volume III— a continuation of Compass Points, Volume I and II, with another rich history of biographical information about notable African Americans from the Delmarva Peninsula.

Kermit Travers: My Story (working title) – the biography of one of the last African-American Skipjack captains from the Eastern Shore of Maryland.