

Genealogy, DNA and Family DISEASES

Join the Upper Shore Genealogical Society of Maryland

Membership Meeting and 1 hour lecture by:
Sue Clabaugh and Liz Stitely; Saturday, March 14, 2020; 1 pm
Caroline County Public Library, Denton, MD, 2nd Floor

Sue Clabaugh, LPN and her daughter, Liz Stitely will speak on how learning of their genetic history in relation to a disease known as Eigenbrode disease in their family has led them to try to help others to understand their family history and related genetic diseases.

Sue and Liz speak of a family book that was written about the Eigenbrode disease by a researcher but it was written in such a way that it was confusing and hard to understand.
After learning about the book Sue took over where the researcher left off to help get the word out about the disease and to inform those who may have the disease to get tested.
Liz will talk about how to write a book that is readable and helpful for non-researchers.

FREE and Open to the Public!
